Diver Imprisoned In Freezing Sewer

CHICAGO (UPI)—A diver, his foot caught in a sewer gate 50 feet underwater, was trapped for more than five hours 160 feet under Chicago's streets yesterday.

His ordeal ended when his foot was freed and he was brought by slow stages to the surface.

The diver, Frank Hefling, 55, had to pause in a decompression chamber before he could come completely to the surface. He was then rushed to South Chicago Hospital.

Hefling had descended into the vertical sewer shaft on a mission to close the 12-square-inch gate leading to a water tunnel under construction on Chicago's far south side.

His foot became caught in the gate and he was pinned against it by tons of water pressure sweeping past him.

Two other divers descended into the depths in attempts to free Hefling. For hours, they were unable to get his leg free. Hefling's agony and peril mounted steadily, although he was in constant telephone communication with rescue headquarters above him.

"I'm in awful pain," he said at one point. "It's getting worse every minute.

"It's awfully cold down here and I'm getting numb."

The water was icy cold and sweeping past him "like sand being washed down a drain," one of the rescue divers said.

Skin divers brought to the scene were unable to go to Hefling's aid because the water was too deep and swift.

When he was finally freed, he was brought slowly upwards in a bucket lowered from the surface.

Accused Assassin Withdraws Plea

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — One of two men accused as hired killers in the strangling of Canadian nurse Olga Duncan withdrew Thursday his plea of not guilty to a murder charge.

However, Luis Moya did not plead guilty and retained his plea of insanity.

The surprise move paved the way for Moya to testify against Augustine Baldonado and Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, also charged with murdering Mrs. Duncan's pregnant daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Duncan and Baldonado have pleaded not guilty, and face trial Feb. 16.

Little Man Squeezed Out—Bruch

Orchards Big Enough

Herbert Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) rose in the legislature last night to criticize the recent royal commission report on B.C.'s tree-fruit industry.

He said the report turned in by Dean E. D. MacPhee recommending bigger fruit holdings and bigger loans to fruit farmers, was "not a satisfactory solution."

In fact, he saw it as another step in the trend by which "the little fellow is being squeezed out." It smacked of socialism.

He doubted if orchards should be bigger—10 acres or more as recommended in the report. Bigger loans weren't the solution either.

Small holdings presented the present-day worker on a fixed income the best opportunity to supplement that income. If operations kept getting bigger and bigger "we eventually will have one of those Russian and Chinese operations."

Mr. Bruch said he could not see subsidization for the fruit farmer unless the government was prepared to subsidize every other type of operation. If the fruit farmer got it, others would scream for it.
